Welcome

Hi, I'm Chris Murphy, I'm a faculty member here at Penn Engineering.

Having worked in industry as a web programmer back in the early days,

I'm always amazed at the advancements that we've seen in this field even in just the past few years.

Nowadays web apps are more dynamic, more data driven.

And every time I look up, it seems that there's a new set of tools that helps web programmers more easily create high quality software for the web.

I sometimes wonder whether it's even possible to keep up with all these
